NAKED GIRL ATTACKED PETROL STATION WITH A POTATO PEELER

By LESLIE GROVES

A NAKED and drunk woman caused uproar when she barged into a petrol station and threatened to kill staff with a potato peeler.

And there was more to come – because when cops arrived, troubled Celia Barrett, 35, began furiously playing with her private parts before knocking over a pile of Red Bull cans.

Kwarteng won't stand at election

KWASI Kwarteng has announced he will be standing down at the general election.

The ex-Chancellor's announcement came amid increasing nervousness in PM Rishi Sunak's ranks about Labour's huge poll lead.

Mr Kwarteng posted on Twitter yesterday: "I informed my Association Chair of my decision not to stand at the election."

"It has been an honour to serve the residents of Spelthorne since 2010, and I shall continue to do so for the remainder of my time in Parliament."

Kwarteng had an abortive stint as Chancellor under Liz Truss, with unfunded tax cuts in his mini-Budget triggering panic on the markets and sending the Pound into freefall.

It has been blamed for spiralling interest payments for Brits.

BP reports profit drop

ENERGY giant BP has reported a sharp drop in profits after oil prices fell last year.

Profits were £11bn in 2023, down from a record £22bn the previous year.

Energy firms reported huge gains when oil and gas prices soared in the aftermath of Russia's invasion of Ukraine over supply fears.

While households' energy bills have fallen since 2022, they still remain at a high level.

The results are the first released by BP since the company announced Murray Auchincloss as its new chief executive.

If you thought a missing monkey was exotic... FLYING DINOSAUR FOUND IN SCOTLAND!

A UNIQUE species of flying reptile – or pterosaur – that lived 168 million years ago has been discovered on the Isle of Skye.

Its wings, shoulders, legs, and backbone were found in a rock on a beach, but the fossil's skull was missing.

Scientists were surprised to find a pterosaur from this period off Scotland's west coast – they were thought to mostly have lived in China.

The creature – called Ceoptera – is the second pterosaur found on Skye.

Its name comes from the Scottish Gaelic word 'cheò', meaning mist, and is a reference to the Gaelic name of the Isle of Skye – 'Eilean a' Cheò' or Isle of Mist. Fossils from this era, called the Middle Jurassic, are extremely rare, said Dr Liz Martin-Silverstone at the University of Bristol, who used a CT scanner to make a 3D digital model of the fossil.

"Finding anything from that time period that's more than just a single bone is really exciting," she added.

The creature probably had a wing-span of around 1-1.5m.

Prof Steve Brusatte, who was not involved in the research, said it was unique to Scotland, and that the research proves a type of pterosaur between the primitive and advanced stages of evolution existed.

He said: "This is the time before birds, when pterosaurs ruled the sky. This shows pterosaurs were common in Scotland."

Starmer: I'm desperate for investment

SIR Keir Starmer says £28bn is "desperately needed" for Labour's mission to achieve clean power by 2030, amid confusion over the party's commitment to the investment pledge.

The Labour leader (above) insisted he had been "unwavering" in relation to the party's green energy plans and denied it was "scaling back" policies as this year's general election looms.

The party originally announced £28bn a year would be invested in green projects if it wins power, but has since said the figure will instead be a target for the second half of a first parliament.

Sir Keir said: "We are going to need investment, that's where the £28bn comes in. Investment that is desperately needed for that mission."

"You can only understand the investment argument by understanding that we want to have clean power by 2030. We need to borrow to invest to do that. That's a principle I believe in and I'm absolutely happy to go out and defend."

Floods kill 3 in California

AT least three people have been killed by falling trees as a powerful storm hits California – bringing flooding, mudslides, and power outages.

Fire officials have responded to more than 130 flooding incidents and conducted several rescues since the deluge began.

Forecasters say heavy rain with life-threatening flash flooding will continue.

The record-breaking rainfall has led the governor to declare a state of emergency in eight counties.

The storm is due to an "atmospheric river" effect – a phenomenon in which water evaporates into the air and is carried along by the wind, forming long currents that flow in the sky like rivers flow on land.

THE King's cancer was "caught early", PM Rishi Sunak has said.

The Prime Minister said he was left "shocked and sad" when he was told about the King's cancer diagnosis. "All our thoughts are with him and his family," he told BBC Radio 5 Live.

"Thankfully, this has been caught early."

Mr Sunak said the running of the country will continue as normal and he was in "regular contact with the King".

The monarch, 75, will have to postpone or rearrange any forthcoming public engagements following the diagnosis, the Palace said yesterday.

"His Majesty would like to apologise to all those who may be disappointed or inconvenienced as a consequence," a statement released on behalf of the King said.

The King remains "wholly positive" about his treatment for cancer and "looks forward to returning to full public duty as soon as possible", Buckingham Palace added.

The King has begun a schedule of regular treatments and is said to be receiving expert medical care from a specialist team.

He travelled from Sandringham in Norfolk to London on Monday to start treatment as an outpatient, and spent the evening at home in London, most likely in Clarence House.

His diagnosis, announced on Monday, means it is unlikely he will attend the Commonwealth Day service at Westminster Abbey on March 11.

The Queen will continue to attend to a full programme of public duties in the meantime.

The King called both his sons, William and Harry, as well as his siblings the Princess Royal, the Duke of York and the Duke of Edinburgh, to give them the news before it was publicly announced.

The Duke of Sussex was last night travelling to the UK from his home in the US to visit his father.

Other members of the Royal family, including the Prince of Wales, may take on some extra duties on behalf of the King during his treatment.

However, it is understood these duties will not relate to the King's constitutional role, and the monarch will continue to receive and review important documents in red boxes used by the monarch and Government ministers.

It is understood the King will continue to have weekly audiences with the PM while undergoing treatment, though these may be held remotely, should medics advise him to reduce in-person contact.

He is also expected to remain available for meetings of the Privy Council, which usually meets once a month.

LOVE ISLAND GEORGIA TROLLED

LOVE Island: All Stars contestant Georgia Steel has been subjected to "vile threats and nasty messages" on social media in recent days, a statement on her official Instagram says.

The 25-year-old (left), who featured on the fourth series of the hit dating show in 2018, appeared to be confused over her feelings for fellow Islanders Toby Aromolaran, Callum

Jones, and Tom Clare in recent episodes of the ITV2 dating show.

Georgia found herself under fire for her behaviour after several clips showing her connections with the different contestants were played, sparking huge criticism online.

A statement posted to her Instagram stories said: "Love Island is an amazing TV show and we have loved watching this series as much as everybody else.

"The last few episodes have been difficult for us to watch, but what's far worse is the hate Georgia is receiving online."

"It is a TV show and everyone has their opinions – just please remember it's not real life!"

"Sending vile threats and nasty messages and comments is totally unacceptable. Trolling is not OK."

DOJA CAT BUSTS OUT

DOJA Cat suffered a wardrobe malfunction as she hit the red carpet at the Grammys.

The Streets hitmaker, 28, wore a very racy sheer nude corset-style dress by designer Dilara Findikoglu for music's biggest night, when the top of her dress slipped down – revealing a peek of outer bull's-eye.

The singer didn't appear to notice the nip slip, and continued posing for the snappas, as she showed off the jaw-dropping design.

The see-through dress also showed off a number of temporary tattoos throughout her body.

Tatts

One of the tats was the name of the dress's designer written across her forehead in large letters.

Doja was nominated for three awards at the event held at the Crypto.com Arena in Los Angeles.

Her single Attention has been nominated in Best Rap Song and Best Melodic Rap Performance, while her song Paint the Town Red earned a nomination for Best Pop Solo Performance.

Both tracks come from Scarlet, Doja's fourth studio album, which was released in September 2023.

An onlooker said: "I've not heard a word of her music but I sure would like to see her piss."

"Bet she gushes like a shire horse."

Brits braced for white hell

A BAND of heavy snow could cause disruption later this week, with as much as eight inches possible in higher areas – where there is a risk of power cuts, travel chaos and highland sheep being cut off from the rest of society.

Temperatures will drop as the week goes on, with a yellow snow warning issued which covers much of Wales as well as northern and central England, the Met Office confirmed.

The 250-mile "wall" of snow is expected to hit the country just a week after temperatures of nearly double the early February average of 7C (45F) were recorded.

Jezza: desert shoot really took the pee

JEREMY Clarkson and his The Grand Tour pals Richard Hammond and James May went for days without peeing as they filmed their penultimate series in the extreme heat of the Sahara Desert.

Presenters Jeremy, 63 (above), Richard, 54, and James, 61, travelled to the wild and remote country of Mauritania in West Africa for The Grand Tour: Sand Job, which is set for release on Amazon Prime Video on February 16.

Their challenge was to do the iconic Paris to Dakar race in second hand sports cars.

Jezza said: "You don't get filthy in a desert. It's a strange thing, but sand is incredibly clean."

"We drank litres and litres of water, and we didn't pee. I don't know where it was going!"

"Hammond said after three or four days, 'I'm going to have a pee' and I thought, 'I haven't had a pee yet!'"

Brit ship 'hit by Houthis'

A BRITISH-owned cargo vessel has been attacked in the Red Sea, according to the UK Maritime Trade Operations.

The attack on the ship happened west of Hodeida in Yemen just after midnight on Tuesday.

No group has claimed responsibility for the attack but suspicions have fallen on Iranian-backed Houthi rebels in Yemen.

The UKMTD said the ship's master was "aware of a small craft" nearby before a projectile was fired at the ship.

THREE TOP STARS IN RUNNING FOR NEW BOND MOVIE

LICENCE TO THRILL

JODIE COMER

MICHELLE KEEGAN

SAOIRSE RONAN

THE identity of the next 007 is still up in the air – but the race is on to be the next Bond girl.

Michelle Keegan, Jodie Comer and Saoirse Ronan are all said to be on the shortlist to play the female lead in the next Bond movie.

Halle Berry, Gemma Arterton and Ursula Andress have all previously appeared as Bond girls in other 007 flicks.

Fool Me Once star Michelle, 36, has been given the seal of approval by gambling experts following the former Corrie cracker's success in Netflix's new hit drama.

By CASSIE WHITE
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Jodie, 30, is known for the hit BBC spy thriller Killing Eve, while Irish actress Saoirse, 29, received an Oscar nomination for the movie Atonement.

Betting expert James Leyfield, from Gambling.com, explained: "Jodie Comer is the 6/4 favourite on specials betting sites to be the next female lead in a Bond movie."

Villain

"She could be an ideal Bond girl, but could be just as effective as the main villain in it, too."

"The British actress cut her teeth in the likes of medical dramas Casualty and Holby City, as well as school drama Waterloo Road, before getting her big break as Villanelle."

Bookies predictions have also been rife around who could play 007 himself, after Daniel Craig departed the role in 2021.

Aaron Taylor-Johnson, who has recently appeared to be bulking up for a role in Kraven The Hunter, is said to have done a screen test last year.

An insider said: "Aaron went for a screen test to be the next Bond in September and the producers and Barbara Broccoli loved him."

"He is now one of the strong front-runners."

RUSTY SHAFT BUGGERS NAVY FLAGSHIP

THE Royal Navy's flagship had to miss crucial NATO exercises – because of a RUSTY SHAFT!

HMS Queen Elizabeth was due to set sail from Portsmouth to help lead the western military alliance's biggest exercise since the Cold War.

But the £3.5billion, 65,000-ton aircraft carrier was pulled out at the 11th hour after rust was found on the affected propeller shaft – leaving it at risk of it breaking down at sea.

MPs described the development as "excruciatingly embarrassing". The Queen Elizabeth's sister carrier, HMS Prince of Wales, broke down near the Isle of Wight after setting sail for America just 18 months ago – also due to a faulty propeller shaft.

It will now take HMS Queen Elizabeth's place on the NATO exercise, but it remains unclear when it will set sail, and it may miss some of the exercise.

The blow means a British aircraft carrier may not be deployed to the Red Sea to help US efforts to counter attacks on shipping by Houthi rebels.

The possibility that one might replace a US aircraft carrier was discussed during a recent visit to Washington by Defence Secretary Grant Shapps.

It comes after two Royal Navy warships collided in Bahrain last month because one had been rewired incorrectly.

Miner HMS Chiddingfold reversed into HMS Bangor, which was lying at port, ripping a hole in a cabin above the waterline.

A report by the Commons defence committee concluded that Britain's over-stretched Armed Forces may be unable to fight an all-out war.

Swift Super Bowl theory 'nonsense'

SUPER Bowl conspiracy theories involving Taylor Swift are "nonsense", NFL commissioner Roger Goodell says.

Music superstar Swift (above) is dating Kansas City Chiefs tight end Travis Kelce, whose team will compete in their fourth Super Bowl in five years on Sunday.

Right-wing critics say their relationship is part of a plot to rig the NFL's championship game and help get US President Joe Biden re-elected.

"I'm not that good a scripter," said Goodell.

"The idea that this is within a script, this is pre-planned, is just nonsense. It's frankly not even worth talking about."

The presidential election is scheduled for November 5, with Biden set to be the Democratic candidate.

Taylor, who has previously endorsed the Democrats, has been seen at 12 Chiefs games, but it is not yet known if she will attend Super Bowl 58 in Las Vegas as he is performing in Tokyo on Saturday.

Goodell said of the 34-year-old: "She's a remarkable performer."

Lacklustre sales hit UK shops

RETAILERS suffered a "lacklustre" January as bad weather and cost of living discouraged shoppers from opening their wallets after Christmas, according to new research.

Total retail sales across the UK increased by only 1.2% year-on-year in January – down sharply from growth of 4.2% during the same period last year, figures from the British Retail Consortium (BRC) and KPMG said.

Separate figures from Barclays also found year-on-year consumer card spending grew by 3.1% over the same month.

It blamed the recent cold weather – including from Storm Isha and Storm Jocelyn – for putting off shoppers from visiting high streets, and claimed Britons were instead "embracing nights in" by watching TV hits such as The Traitors.

The BRC said January sales helped boost spending in the first two weeks but added the trend was "not sustained".

Chief executive Helen Dickinson said: "Larger purchases, such as furniture, household appliances, and electricals, remained weak."

PORN QUEEN: Whitney took a big risk going to Iran

Bum-sex porn queen risks DEATH during Iran trip...

MULLAHS? MY ARSE!

BRAZEN: Whitney in action and at the US embassy in Tehran (below and right)

AN American porn star has sparked anger after visiting Iran – despite the risks of being detained and sentenced to the death penalty.

Whitney Wright, 32, filmed herself in Tehran and visited the abandoned US embassy which has been turned into an anti-American museum.

In remarks made on social media, Wright, whose real name is Brittini Rayne Whittington, said she "HAD to visit" the embassy where Iranian students held staff hostage for 444 days after the 1979 Islamic Revolution.

"I'm sharing exhibits from a museum that are never seen," Wright, from Oklahoma, wrote on Instagram in a since-deleted post. "It's not an endorsement of the government."

The beauty – who has taken part in full, oral and even ANAL sex scenes – filmed herself in the Iranian capital despite her work in porn putting her at risk in theory to criminal charges that carry the death penalty.

Wright also posted several pictures of her visit, including one that showed her in a headscarf and conservative

By MILES PLATTING
news@sundaysport.co.uk

clothing standing next to a lowered US flag at the former embassy.

The adult actress said she doesn't know "half of what is being said here, but I'm no longer in Iran, but elsewhere".

Masih Alinejad, a US activist who faced assassination attempts by Iran, condemned Wright for making the trip and for alleged remarks where the actress said "if you respect the law, you will be safe in Iran".

Executed

She wrote on Twitter: "Iranian women don't want to obey a discriminatory law. Rosa Parks stood up against racist laws in America and became a symbol of resistance. "We the women of Iran want to be like Rosa Parks and not Whitney Wright. And by the way, the true warmongers are the agents of the Islamic Republic who will execute you if you be true to yourself."

Under Iranian law, making pornography is illegal and can carry the death penalty.

US citizens also require a visa to visit the country, and it is unclear how the x-rated actress obtained one.

Joe blasts: Trump is a sick fk!

DOTTY Joe Biden has a potty mouth, it has been revealed.

The cussing Commander-in-Chief allegedly called Israeli PM Netanyahu a "bad fking guy" and former US president Donald Trump a "sick fk".

Biden's alleged insults come as the US is dragged further into war and conflict in the Middle East.

Politics website Politico's Jonathan Martin wrote a column explaining how Biden, 81 (above), is losing millions of votes among young liberals for the United States' support of Israel amid the ongoing conflict in Gaza with Hamas.

Martin revealed that unnamed sources told him Biden is "deeply suspicious" of Mr Netanyahu.

The White House vehemently denied the statements published in the column, saying: "The president did not say that, nor would he," adding Biden and Netanyahu have "a decades-long relationship that is respectful in public and in private".

According to Martin, a House Democrat told him it was "unanimous this Israel-Gaza war needed to end now".

Driver killed cyclists after shitting pants

A WOMAN said she ran over and killed two cyclists after shitting herself at the wheel.

Julie Ann Budge, 48, was arrested in 2022 after striking 48-year-old Matthew Bullard and his brother Adam, 49, who were riding in the Spring Tour of St. George cycle race in Utah.

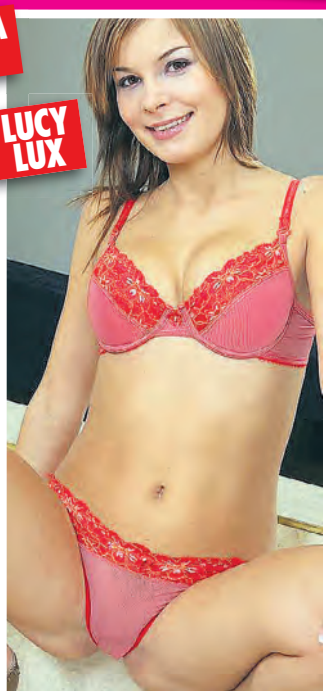

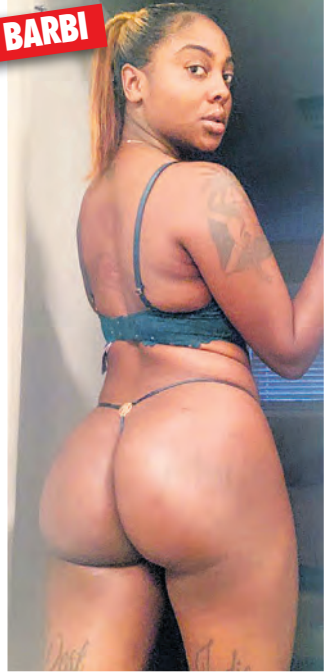

Both men died of their injuries.

After the incident, Budge told police that she had "various medical issues" and had begun uncontrollably defecating herself without warning, causing her to swerve and hit the brothers.

Budge, of Hurricane, Utah, also failed sobriety tests at the scene, telling police she had been taking fentanyl through an IV drip since being admitted to hospital the day before.

Following the trial, the jury found Budge guilty on two counts of negligent homicide, one count of reckless driving and another count of failure to remain in a single lane of traffic.

She was found not guilty on two counts of leaving the scene of an accident.

'Sex traffic' Gwynnie pal to face trial

A PAL of Gwyneth Paltrow is to go on trial for running a sex cult.

Nicole Daedone, 56 – founder of "sexual wellness" empire OneTaste – and its former CEO Rachel Cherwitz, 43, are to go on trial next year, accused of running a cult which forced workers into sex and followers into debt.

The duo appeared in federal court in Brooklyn, trailed by a glam-squad entourage and represented by £1,000-an-hour attorneys, to be told their criminal trial on charges of running a forced labour conspiracy will take place in 2025 and is likely to take around a month.

They could face years in prison if found guilty of the charges, and are also being sued in federal court in Manhattan by a former worker who accuses them of trafficking her for sex to gain OneTaste customers.

It is a fall from grace for Daedone, who was once given a place on the TedX Talks stage chatting about the female orgasm and who hung out with Hollywood A-listers like Gwynnie (above).

Paltrow's Goop website also talked up OneTaste which raked in £9.5million a year.

Social media is killing sex for UK teens

THE number of British teenagers having their first sexual experience by the age of 15 has gone down by up to a third in the past decade.

Researchers found Britain is also one of only two countries – along with Sweden – where girls are now more sexually active than boys.

One theory is that young people are dating less and have fewer romantic relationships and face-to-face encounters due to the increasing amount of time they spend on social media and their smartphones.

The study, published in the Journal of Sex Research, examined data on 180,000 teens in 33 countries, including the UK, over a 10-year period.

It found that in 25 countries, the number of 15-year-olds who reported they have had sex has significantly decreased, and increased in none.

The study also found that 23.6% of British girls reported having had sex by the age of 15, compared with 22.8% of boys.

POTATO PEELER GIRL FINGERED HERSELF IN PETROL STATION

HELD:
Celia Barrett

A WOMAN barged into a petrol station while naked and drunk, threatening to kill staff with a potato peeler – then fingered her minge in front of bewildered onlookers.

Celia Barrett, 35, was arrested and charged with two counts of aggravated assault, disorderly intoxication, criminal mischief, exposure of sexual organs and trespassing after the incident that unfolded at the RaceTrac petrol station in St. Petersburg, Florida. Barrett, who was previously banned from the patrol station back in November, returned after taking six shots of liquor, she told police.

Naked at the time of this incident, she walked in waving a "sharp-edged peeler-corer" and threatening staff with it, police said.

She did not request money from the cashier, but allegedly began to bang the peeler on the counter as she yelled obscenities at the cashier.

The general manager then came over, and she allegedly threatened him with the peeler, too.

By LESLIE GROVES
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Barrett continued to wave the peeler in the air, acting as if she was going to stab the general manager, according to the arrest affidavit.

She also said she was "going to kill him," the affidavit said, but lowered the weapon and walked away.

Vagina

Barrett continued to "cause a disturbance" by allegedly knocking down a display of about 50 Red Bull drinks and destroying a carton of cigarettes.

When cops arrived, she allegedly began to "inappropriately touch herself 'by inserting three fingers into her vagina'."

Barrett remains in custody in Pinellas County.

Nose pickers are 'at risk of Alzheimer's'

PICKING your nose can increase the risk of you getting Alzheimer's.

Researchers at the Western Sydney University found that chronic nose-picking introduces germs into the sensitive nasal cavity that cause inflammation in the brain, which has been linked to the onset of Alzheimer's disease.

Boffins still aren't sure what causes Alzheimer's, but in the brains of patients they've observed a buildup of a protein called tau, which is associated with the body's immune response.

When immune cells are triggered by invasions too frequently, researchers believe stress on the body – inflammation – can lead to various diseases.

DRINK DRIVE BEAUTY'S BUST-ED AFTER SMASH

A BUSTY woman wearing leather lingerie has been charged with drink driving following a collision with an e-bike cyclist.

Emergency services were called after a Subaru sedan hit an e-bike in Sydney, Australia.

Paramedics treated the cyclist at the scene before he was rushed to St Vincent's Hospital in a serious condition.

The 27-year-old unnamed female driver (left) allegedly returned a positive result in a roadside breath test and was taken to Surry Hills Police Station where she underwent a secondary breath test.

She was later taken to hospital to undergo mandatory blood and urine testing.

The woman has since been charged with a mid-range drink driving offence and will face the Downing Centre Local Court on March 14.

SMOKING is bad for your health...

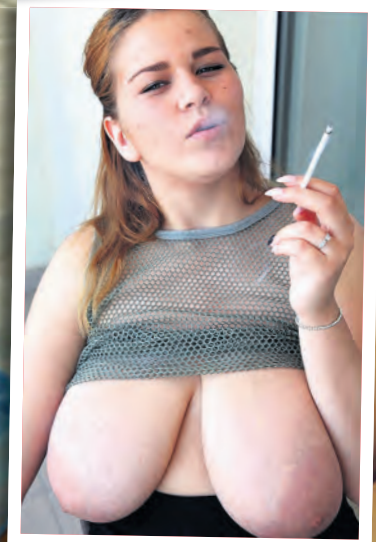

OK, OK... we get it. But Rishi Sunak is going even further with an all-out attack on nicotine.

The PM has announced plans for a smoke-free generation, by ending cigarette sales to those born on or after January 1, 2009.

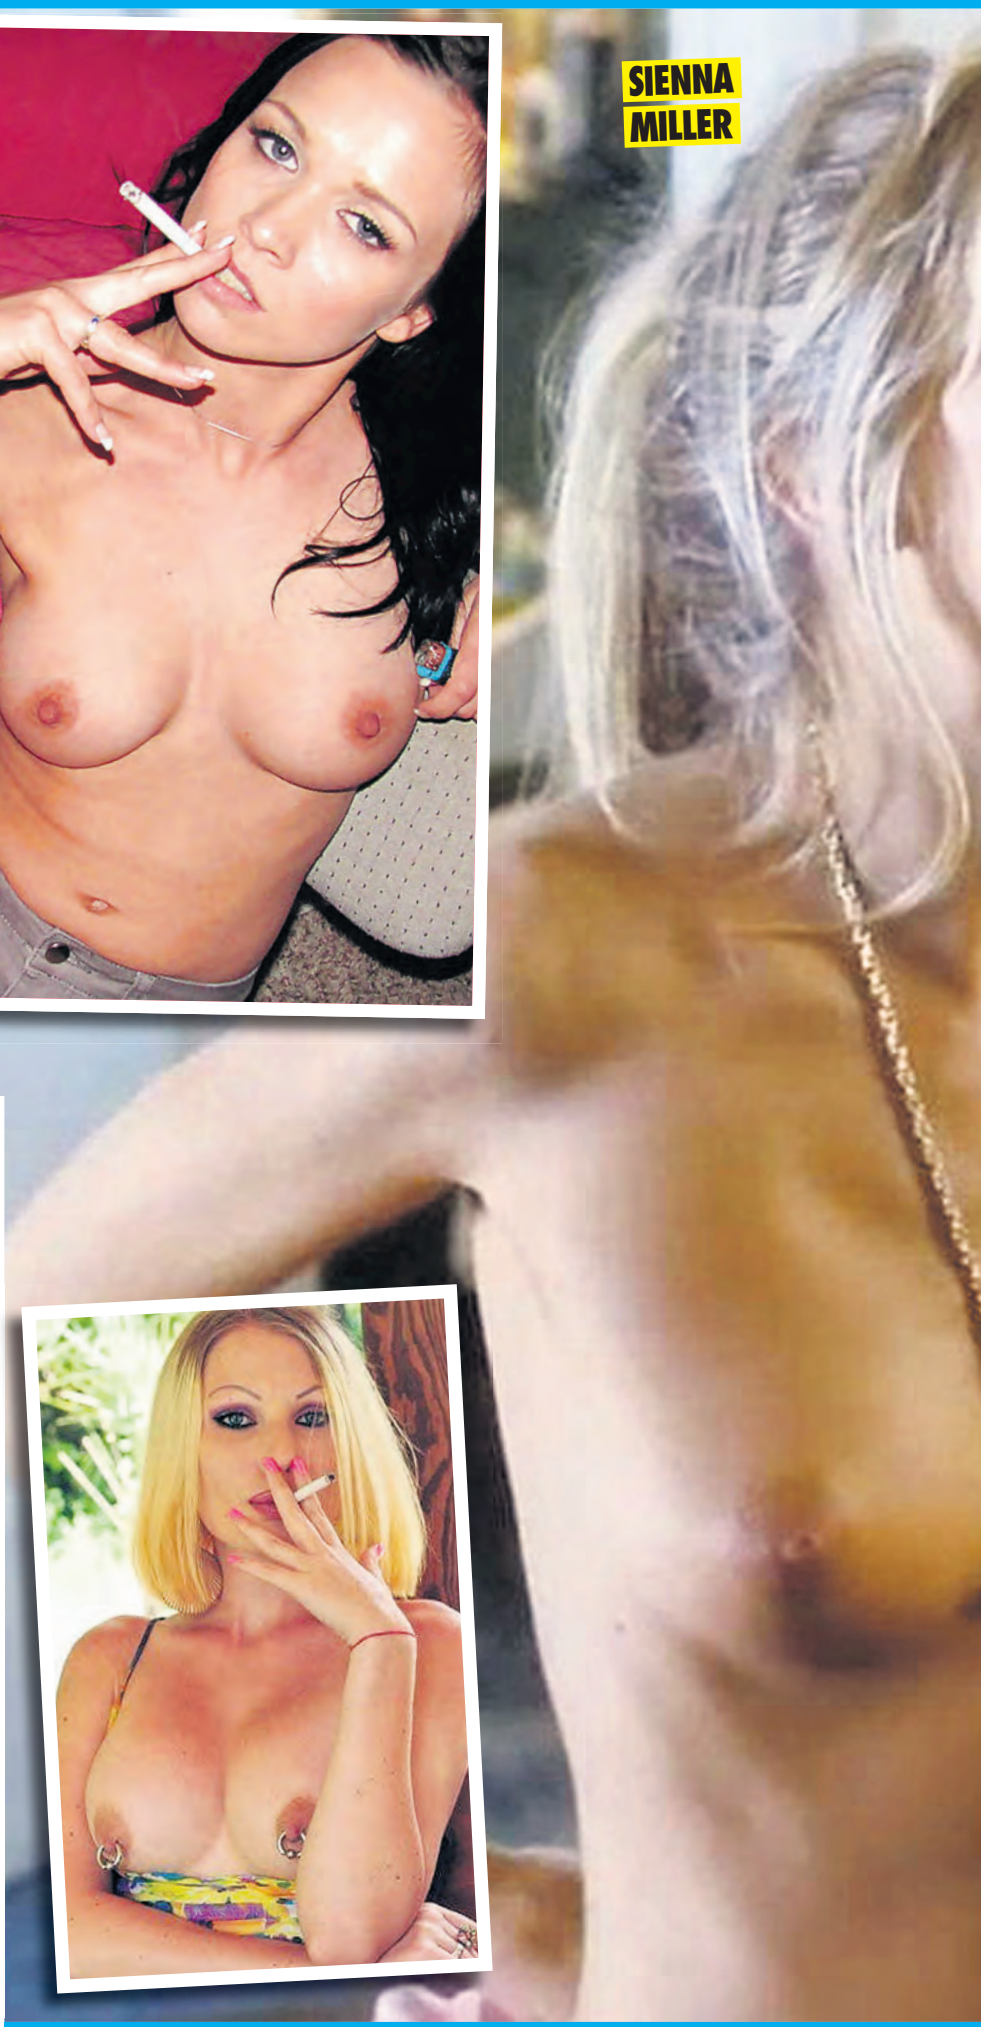

But he's not just after the fags. Rishi also announced moves to ban the sale and supply of disposable vapes in England, Scotland and Wales "because of their appeal to young people".

Well, we're rebels here at The Midweek Sport so here are five pages of sexy babes lighting up.

Stick that in your pipe and smoke it, Rishi!

#MY SEX FANTASY

'I'd love to be in an oral daisy chain...'

...WITH KRISTI
36D, FROM PRAGUE

MY big fantasy is having a threeway - I've never had one but it's top of my bucket list.

I'm straight and would love to do it with two guys... having a cock in my pussy and another in my mouth would make me feel like such a naughty slut!

It would be such a turn-on for them to swap ends, while I begged them not to stop.

But I'm bicurious, too, and wouldn't say no to a guy and another girl.

Bouncing

I'd love to do it with the guy lying on his back, and one of us girls bouncing on his hard dick while the other is sat on his face.

In this position, me and the other girl could kiss and caress each other's bits.

Another good position is when the two women go down on each other in a 69-er and the guy penetrates the girl on top from behind.

Also very naughty is a kind of oral daisy chain where everyone is getting a good sucking and licking!

I'm getting so hot just thinking about it, I'm definitely going to make it happen this year!

Tourists label Big Ben as 'just big clock'

BIG Ben has got a big raspberry from tourists visiting London.

The beloved clock tower (above) has more than 32,000 reviews on TripAdvisor and, while it has accrued more than 19,000 five-star ratings, the attraction has a legion of haters.

Some 764 people have taken to the travel website to give Big Ben a "terrible" one-star review and to give their constructive criticism.

The most recent sceptic, Leo N, visited in September 2023, but spent two months carefully crafting his feedback – posting his thoughts in November.

The review reads: "Just a big clock really init... nothing special really, could just go my nan's house and see a clock except Big Ben's 10x bigger (where did Big Ben get its name by the way?)"

Viewing the 19th century building as merely a timekeeping tool was a running theme for unsatisfied visitors, with Trojan P advising readers in June 2023 to "just look at your wristwatch" instead.

Elsewhere, Daniel B boasted his Apple Watch was better than Big Ben as it can take his pulse, which the Palace of Westminster landmark failed at.

Neighbour finds nuke in garage!

A NUCLEAR missile was found in a garage after the death of its owner.

The discovery of the military-grade rocket sparked an urgent visit from a local police bomb squad, which quickly determined the remnants of the missile were inert and not a danger to the surrounding area.

A neighbour of the late homeowner told cops the deceased man initially bought the defunct equipment at an estate sale in Bellevue, Washington state.

The police were alerted about the rocket when the National Museum of the US Air Force in Ohio contacted them when the neighbour offered to donate it, cops said.

The police officials determined the hunk of metal was a Douglas AIR-2 Genie, which is an unguided air-to-air rocket that is meant to carry a 1.5 kiloton W25 warhead dating back to the Cold War. There was no warhead on the rocket when it was found.

"Bomb squad members confirmed it contained no rocket fuel," police said.

Teacher sent boys pics of her minge NEWLYWED MISS SUCKED OFF THREE TEEN LADS

WEDDING BELLE: Cassidy Klaus was arrested three months after tying the knot

By BOB TAYLOR news@sundaysport.co.uk

A NEWLYWED teacher has pleaded guilty to sucking off three teenage lads.

Cassidy Kraus, 24, pleaded guilty to one count of third-degree sexual abuse, two counts of lascivious acts with a child and three counts of dissemination and exhibition of obscene materials to minors.

The Westside, Iowa, woman's arrest came in October, just months after her July wedding.

The charges stem from incidents that took place in 2022 and again in 2023, beginning with the reading teacher sending obscene material to three minors over Snapchat.

According to the criminal complaint, Kraus "knowingly disseminated obscene material" to one victim between January 2022 and May 2022 and to two other victims between January 2023 and June 2023.

Kraus then took the abuse a step further, "fondling or touching" a 13-year-old in May 2022 and "touching" her genitals to any part of the body of the child.

The third-degree sexual abuse charge stemmed from her "performing sex acts" on a 14-year-old between January 17 and 31, 2023.

As part of her duties as a teacher, Kraus, 24, was a mandatory reporter of child abuse, the complaint noted.

According to a statement from the school district, a report was made in August of the same year alleging that Kraus had sent sexually-charged pics to students.

She was put on leave amid an investigation in conjunction with local police.

Kraus tendered her resignation before she was sacked.

Three days later, the IKM-Manning School Board approved her resignation during a special meeting.

She now faces a maximum of 33 years in prison and a sentencing hearing is scheduled for March 11.

KADY McDermott sent temperatures soaring as she posed in racy black lace lingerie for a sizzling social media snap.

The Love Island star, 28, showcased her incredible figure in the Nikki Intimates bra which she teamed with the matching thong and suspenders.

The TV personality looked sensational in the sexy number as she posed up a storm in a lavish hallway for a black and white snap.

She penned: 'Get date night ready with the cutest lingerie sets'.

A fan said: "When she's done with them panties, I'll look after them for her. No worries if there are little lemon stains."

AWESOME Amber Jayne loves watching blue movies – which is just as well, because she's a PORN STAR herself!

But the busty MILF has a critical eye and can always spot if performers are faking it.

She explained: "I like watching porn movies, it depends on my mood. I'm all about sexual chemistry and I can tell straight away if two people are genuinely into each other and the sex is real and hot."

"That's always guaranteed to get my juices flowing!"

And if you want to have a paddle in Amber Jayne's juices yourself, being polite would be a good start.

She explained: "I don't have a specific type – it varies on a daily basis, I'd say."

"But I'm greedy, so I'd be limiting myself by having just one 'type'. However, good manners are a real turn-on for me."

OT 'N' HORNY

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

We lay out a free buffet...no wonder scumbags tuck in

MAYBE I'm old-fashioned, but I always presumed that if you broke the law you got bollocked for it.

A horrifically hungover dawn awakening in a police station cell after that one-too-many saw you get chucked through a restaurant window.

Caught driving while you're so pissed you can't even read the speedometer, never mind the traffic lights (been there).

Nicked red-handed in a stolen car. Or cheating on the taxman, even though you know damn right that he's the one ripping you off.

I'm certainly no angel, but it's crime and punishment, innit?

Except, it seems, only for some of us.

I'm in a Muslim country right now and the first thing we do before we step out of the front door is check what the missus is wearing.

Zanzibar is tolerant by many Muslim countries' standards, but that doesn't mean you can take the piss.

Walk up off the beach in a G-string bikini because you can't be arsed putting a towel around you won't just upset the locals.

Handwringing

It'll upset you, too, when you get thrown into a very, very hot slammer to learn the lesson of your ways.

Likewise, there are utter knobheads who visit Indonesia with stuffed dolls full of smack or coke even though, on one simple online search, it warns them quite clearly that they risk facing a firing squad.

And then do teary videos to the handwringing BBC saying they didn't really mean to, because someone nasty made them.

Tough shit. The sun's up. Bang. Problem solved.

In the United States last week, they executed a bloke who himself helped take part in a murder many years ago.

It caused outrage because despite using a new "humane" method of state-sponsored murder, he lay there shuddering and jerking for 22 minutes in agony before his heart gave up.

Which sounds dreadful, but mainly for those watching. Him? I couldn't care less. He knew very well when he committed the crime in the first place that he lived and committed the crime in a state with the death penalty.

How many more signs do they need?

THE GAS CHAMBER:
Where wrong'uns go in the States

Well, it turns out the only sign any of these people need is one that directs them to the doors of the United Kingdom.

At the time of writing there's a certain someone still on the loose after an alleged chemical attack and the also alleged brutal, public assault of a child.

It turns out the alleged perp had arrived in this country illegally, on the back of a lorry, and then applied for asylum. That was turned down, so he applied again. And the second application was turned down, too.

While no doubt being groomed by charities and so-called human rights' lawyers for a third attempt, he was then convicted not once but twice of sex offences.

But no worries, because then he "converted" to Christianity – even though he still regularly bought half a halal sheep carcass and was described as a devout Muslim at his local mosque.

So his third application for asylum went in – nonce convictions notwithstanding – and bingo! He's in!

Now we witness the unedifying sight of people running round asking how on earth this was allowed to happen. Yet everyone knows exactly why it happened.

It happened, purely and simply, because we're the softest of touches and the world and its wife back home, and all of their relatives, and maybe a few neighbours, and perhaps their pets, and their pets' pets, also know it only too well.

But believe it not, I don't blame them.

We put out the free buffet, and they devour all the courses.

The only mugs are us for allowing it in the first place.

Warning as coke hippos go on attack

DESCENDANTS of illegal hippos imported into Colombia by drug kingpin Pablo Escobar in the 1980s have now started attacking people.

The hippopotami uses, which spread from the cocaine baron's private zoo into nearby rivers where their numbers then flourished, have no natural predators and have been declared an invasive species which threaten the local ecosystem.

Hacienda Nápoles became a tourist attraction after Escobar's death in 1993. Most of the animals live freely in rivers and reproduce without control, leading Colombia's Ministry of Environment to start a sterilizing programme back in November.

One local said: "They're very, very dangerous. The hippos have started to attack people!"

Others branded the species – of which 169 roam around unsupervised in some local rivers – as being "unpredictable and aggressive", saying the best course of action if you come across one is to try and hide.

Susana Muhamad, the Environmental Minister, said: "We are in a race against time in terms of permanent environmental and ecosystem impacts."

Police close brothel over sex yelping

COPS have shut down a massage parlour after sex yelps from the rub-a-tug shop disturbed a Bible study class next door.

The probe revolved around Ocean Spa in Kearny near San Diego, California.

Over the years, locals have complained about the enterprise, with San Diego Police receiving reports of people having sex in vehicles in the car park, sex noises loud enough to disrupt neighbours, and online ads promoting prostitution.

Among those forced to sit through the sordid scenes were youngsters in a Bible study that for years was set nextdoor, before it moved out in 2022 due to the alleged activity, cops said.

At least four arrests have been made.

"The owners of Ocean Spa have been masquerading as a legitimate business for far too long," said City Attorney Mara Elliott in a statement, after compiling enough evidence to sway a judge to dish out an order.

"Ocean Spa is a sex shop – not a massage parlour... it has no place in our community or anywhere else."

BANNED FROM SCHOOL RUN...

GIVEN A CHOICE:
Mum Michelle
and her car advert

OVER ONLYFANS ADVERT ON CAR

A HOT mum says she's been banned from doing the school run – because of an ad for her OnlyFans page on her car.

Michelle Cline put a promo for her raunchy online account on her vehicle to try and draw more attention to her business.

But it's caused such a stink she's now been forced to drop her kids off across the street from their school.

Facebook messages, TikTok videos and other complaints all took aim at the Liberty Christian Preparatory School in Tavaresm Florida, where Michelle sends her kids.

Explicit

The blonde mum, who goes by the name 'Piper Fawn' on the adult subscription site, has acknowledged the explicit nature of her content, but said OnlyFans is a legitimate business and just a way of life for her.

She said: "My husband and I had this, you know, behind closed doors lifestyle that we've now decided to share."

However, not all parents

By KIT JACKSON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

want what Michelle is sharing shared at the school, with some mums complaining to and about her.

School officials responded by telling Michelle not to use the main entrance to the school, and to instead drop her kids off across the street.

Some parents at the school pointed out there was a simple solution if Michelle wanted to use the main school drop-off – just remove the ad.

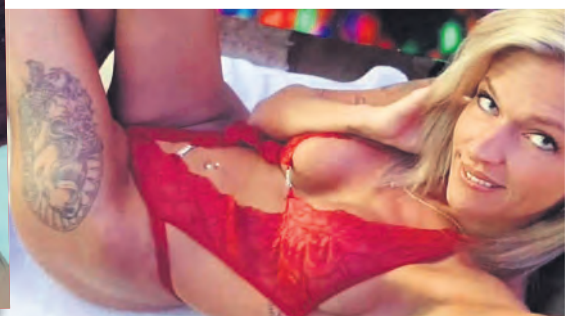

"I was being forced to have to take the advert off my car or not come on campus," Michelle explained.

"For me, it supports my family. This provides a very comfortable way of life for us, and it's legal.

"I pay taxes like everyone else. I didn't break any law, I just offended people."

However, one mum, Lexy Thomas, disagrees.

She said: "It's a distraction to my children. No matter how poorly or how good I parent, porn is there, and that's the first thing they're seeing when they're going into a place that should be educating them."

AGONY
*PageDear Ashleigh,

MY girlfriend always wears stockings and suspenders, but her best feature is probably her 34GG breasts. She gives the best tit-wank a man can get.

When I met her mum, I could tell where she got her fantastic norks from.

After a meal at their house recently, the dad pissed off down the boozer and we settled down to watch some telly. But all the time I was staring at the mum's knockers, imagining getting a tit-wank from her.

My girl went to bed and I stayed to watch the end of the movie. But as soon as she'd left, I made a move on her mum.

She responded by unbuttoning her blouse and gripping my cock between her giant hooters. I was well away and just about to cream on her norks when her hubby walked in.

I was chased out of the house and now my girlfriend won't talk to me. What should I do?

*JD, MerseysideAshleigh says...*CHALK it up to experience.*Dear Ashleigh,

MY girlfriend loves watching me having sex with other women – usually her mates – and she has a string of peachy pals that any red-blooded male would love to get his hands on.

Take the other week, for example. She told me she would be inviting Natasha round for dinner on the Saturday night and I should be ready for some fun.

Our guest arrived at 7pm and, after a delicious supper, I was soon conkers-deep in Natasha's lovely clunge.

My missus always watches for a bit and then joins in. This time was no different. She climbed onto the bed and was soon licking her mate's fanny and sucking my cock.

It was brilliant, but I'm thinking of marrying her and wonder if our relationship is strong enough to survive because she now wants to go with other men.

What should I do?

*BK, LancashireAshleigh says...*BE careful. It could end in disaster.*Shoe shop shag show*Dear Ashleigh,

I WORK in a shoe shop and one day a week the manager leaves me in charge.

Recently I was about to close at the end of the day when a smart woman came in. She was about 35, tall and slim.

She asked me about a pair of shoes on display in the window, so I invited her to take a seat while I went to fetch them.

They were a pair of red, strappy sandals and when I got back she'd already slipped off her shoes to reveal her pretty toes set off with scarlet nail polish.

She wasn't wearing tights or stockings and as I lifted her foot to try on the sandal I couldn't help but admire her long, tanned legs.

But I hesitated slightly and she caught me looking at them.

She smiled and slowly parted her thighs, to reveal she wasn't wearing panties!

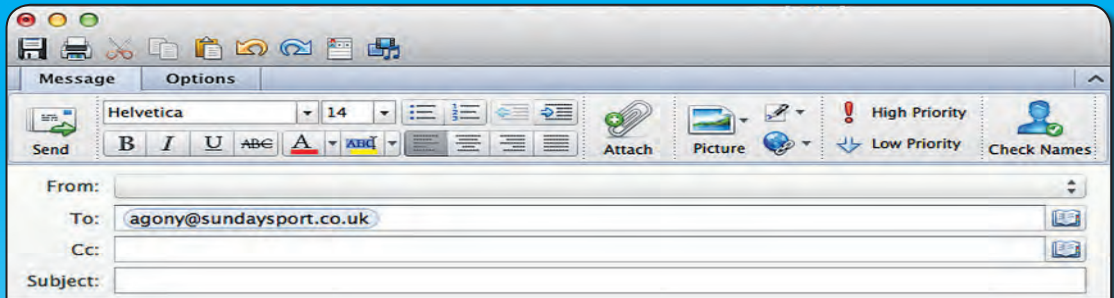

At her suggestion, I locked up the shop while she slipped off her skirt, bent over a chair and let me bang her till she squealed.

Now she calls in every week when the boss is away. I love it, of course, but I'm worried I might get sacked if the boss finds out.

What do you think?

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week ASHLEIGH GEE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Secret threesomes are hole lot of joy for me!

Dear Ashleigh,

I'M 32, married and hide a saucy secret from my hubby – I enjoy threesomes with two men I work with.

Our sessions are on Tuesdays and Thursdays, when my hubby thinks I'm at the bingo.

Instead, I go round to my work pal's house where the two of them are ready and waiting.

The sex is always out of this world, but the other week was the best one yet.

I went upstairs and stripped off before diving under the duvet. After a couple of minutes they came in with a bottle of wine and I undressed each one in turn.

Sucking

I enjoy being licked out and, though one of my lovers is pretty good at it, the other is sensational.

And he soon got going on my love-bud with his expert tongue.

As I lay sucking on one guy's manhood, his pal was like a man possessed as he lapped away at my aching pussy.

After I reached a shuddering climax I got on all fours for one of them to enter me from behind for some frantic doggy-style humping while I sucked on the other one's hard dick.

One of the lusty lads thrust into me as I grabbed the other's cock and furiously wanked him off until he spilled his hot cream over my face and tits.

But the one who was inside me was like a stallion – I could feel the sweat dripping off his naked body onto my arse as he built up an incredible rhythm.

Several thrusts later I was squealing with delight as I reached yet another shuddering orgasm.

We lay in each other's arms stroking each other for a while to get our breath back.

And after about 20 minutes one of the chaps climbed on top of me and slipped his prick into me for some missionary-style action.

The other lay playing with himself until he, too, was rock-hard again.

Then the three of us managed to position ourselves so that I could take the second guy in my bumhole at the same time as his pal was still shagging my dripping wet pussy.

The feeling of having both guys inside me – in different holes – filled me with rapture and I had the most amazing, long and intense orgasm ever.

But last weekend my husband came back from the pub and hit me with some devastating news.

He said that one of his pals had told him I'd been cheating on him with the two men from my workplace.

I feel deeply ashamed that I've taken things so far and that I've upset my husband.

Any advice for me?

HJ, north London

Ashleigh says...

SEE if you can make things up with your hubby. Cook him something nice, then suck him dry.

Dear Ashleigh,

I AM a 20-year-old secretary in a legal firm and my 35-year-old boss has taken a shine to me.

He has always been extremely nice to me and sometimes I have got embarrassed when he praised me in front of other colleagues.

But the other month he came clean about the reasons why and told me he fancied me rotten.

And he promised me a promotion if I slept with him.

So I did – because I really need the extra money.

The first time he had me was over his desk. He took off my thong, licked me out and then fked me... hard.

We now have sex up to five times a week and I have good reason to enjoy it.

I have been promoted – twice – and have a company car.

He is very attractive with an athletic body and colleagues tell me he is divorced and unattached.

The problem is that I prefer guys my own age and I have a steady boyfriend.

Should I continue to sleep with him?

BS, Birmingham

Ashleigh says...

IF you are comfortable with the situation, then carry on. If you feel guilty about your fella, then stop.

MILF landlady gave me bed 'n' breakfast treat!

Dear Ashleigh,

ME and my mate work away from home as contractors and recently shagged the MILF landlady at our digs.

She was a tasty 40-something, slim and blonde with cracking tits and an arse to die for.

Me and my mate went to the pub for a few ales when she walked in with her knockers almost spilling out of her top.

She came over and leant in to me, whispering in my ear that she wanted to fk me, as she grabbed my bollocks and remarked how well hung I was.

So I quickly finished my pint, left my mate in the pub to carry on boozing and went back to our digs with the randy landlady.

Back at the B&B, I soon had her on the couch in the shared lounge, with her thong off and her soaking wet bean rubbing on my nose.

I quickly made her orgasm with my finger blasting technique before she told me to bend her over and slam her hard from behind.

About half-an-hour later my mate walked in on us – still banging away in the sitting room.

The old bird grabbed my wet cock and told me to carry on while she beckoned my pal over to join us!

Before long we were spit-roasting her as she screamed in ecstasy and begged for more.

We didn't last long as she was such a good shag and her face ended up covered, like a bukkake scene.

She gave us discount on the room and a free breakfast, but me and my mate have birds back home and feel guilty about boning her.

Please help!

SH, Stockport

Ashleigh says...

WHAT happens "on tour" should stay "on tour". So remind your mate to keep his mouth shut!

Leonora Love

LUSTY Leonora Love is a pro when it comes to BONKING in public and not getting caught.

The stunna admitted she's never been rumbled in the act – despite having previously romped in hotel swimming pools and being a fully-fledged member of the Mile High Club, too.

The 32DD babe said the wildest place she's ever done it was in the back row of her local cinema.

Leonora, from Maidstone, Kent, said: "Most people have done the whole plane thing, so it's not really special enough to mention.

"There were a few incidents on holiday, though – I once had sex with my boyfriend at the time in a swimming pool.

"But the craziest would have to be in a cinema. I was younger and just wanted to do something really wild.

"We ended up on the floor while the movie was showing – it was amazing! Luckily we weren't caught or I'd have been mortified, but that's part of the appeal. Danger can add to the moment."

JUICY Jenny Smith says she's a tad greedy in the bedroom as one man just isn't enough!

The 34DD babe said her ultimate fantasy is a kinky THREESOME with a boyfriend and one of his pals.

And the redhead beauty would love to take the fun OUTDOORS.

The full-time model, from York, revealed: "I fantasise about going on a picnic in a secluded farmer's field with my fella and his mate.

"It all starts off innocent enough. We're all relaxed after a beer or two in the sunshine and then things get touchy-feely.

"Before long we all start kissing passionately and they both touch me intimately. I'm quite the nymphomaniac and I'd love to have two guys at once. All the attention would be a major turn-on for me!

"It's an extra thrill to get down and dirty in the great outdoors where you could get caught.

"It's taboo to have more than one lover at a time, but life's about different experiences and I'm a very sensual person."

HOPEFUL: Adrian Lam

Lam wants his Leopards to take leap forwards

RUGBY LEAGUE

ADRIAN Lam is determined to prove Leigh's stunning 2023 season was no fluke.

The promoted Leopards not only charged up the Super League table on their top-flight return but won the Challenge Cup for the first time in 52 years.

The challenge now for their dynamic former Wigan coach Lam is to prove it was no flash in the pan, as he fears many people suspect.

"I think people underestimated us last year," said Lam, who was named coach of the year after following up cup success with a fifth-placed finish.

"I think people probably still doubt that we can do it and potentially feel that we may have got lucky, so we've still got a few people to prove wrong.

"We're aware that it's going to be that little bit harder because everyone's aware of us.

"But we've added 10 new players to the group and hopefully they can bring something to us, while we've not lost many. We've just got to believe really, and have that consistency."

Lam is pleased with how his squad has been rejigged over the winter. While a host of new faces have arrived, a core of key players including John Asiat, Robbie Mulhern, Josh Charnley, Edwin Ipape and the coach's son Lachlan Lam have all been retained.

Among the new signings is former Penrith and Cronulla playmaker Matt Moylan, an Australia international, who looks set to play alongside Lam junior in the halves.

Lam senior said: "I think the new players that have come in are better players, to add to the squad and to make us better.

"That's all really exciting. We've just got to make sure that we get off the field. By doing that we get the trust on the field.

"I think that the goal will be to finish higher than we did last year, so that would be in the top four.

"I think that's a realistic goal but it's going to take a lot of hard work. We're aware of that but we're a club that's on the up and we want to show that's what we're capable of."

The Leopards begin their Super League campaign when they host Huddersfield on February 16.

HAWKEYE HORROR FOR BEN

DRS seemed 'wrong' says Stokes as England gear up for third Test

BEN Stokes felt England were let down by technology at a crucial moment as they slipped to a series-levelling defeat against India but refused to blame the result on "if, buts and maybes".

The tourists were bowled out for 292 on day four of the second Test in Visakhapatnam, going down by 106 runs as they fell well short of a history-making chase. Opener Zak Crawley looked the man most likely to do something special and his dismissal for 73 just before lunch turned the game decisively in India's favour.

Kuldeep Yadav's lbw shout was initially turned down by experienced umpire Marais Erasmus, who judged the ball to missing leg stump, but DRS surprisingly ruled in the bowler's favour when ball-tracking suggested it was going on to hit.

England lost Jonny Bairstow in the next over and never quite recovered, with Stokes making it clear he felt Crawley was the victim of a HawkEye glitch.

"My personal opinion is that the technology has gone wrong on this occasion. That's where I stand on it," the England captain said when questioned about the decision.

"Technology in the game is obviously there and everyone has an understanding of the reasons it can never be 100 per cent. That's why we have the 'umpire's call', that's why it's in place.

"So when it's not 100 per cent, I don't think it's unfair for someone to say 'I think the technology has got it wrong'. I will say that, but in a game full of ifs, buts and maybes I am not going to say that's the reason why we haven't got the result we wanted.

"You can't really do much with things that have been and gone. You can't really overturn a decision that has been made."

Proud

England's score was the second highest fourth-innings total any overseas team have scored in Indian conditions, but the scale of their target was simply too great to overcome without a big century to build around.

Ollie Pope, Ben Foakes and Tom Hartley were all battling against illness that emerged in the camp overnight, along with the injured Jack Leach at the team hotel, leaving Stokes proud of the fight his side put up.

"There's a bit of a virus going round, a couple of guys woke up not feeling great," he said. "It's not ideal, you want everyone to be feeling great but I'm proud that the guys who were feeling under the weather didn't shy away and gave it their best."

"We had full belief in ourselves that we could chase that down. Taking on challenges like that is what we are about. In moments like this, when you have scoreboard pressure, that is when we get the best out of ourselves as individuals. Unfortunately, this time we didn't get on the right side of the result."

A quick scan of their second-innings boundary count – 42 fours and four sixes – tells the story of how England went about their business in a match that ended with four full sessions unused.

It was the kind of aggressive display which has become par for the course under Stokes' leadership and even dismissals like Joe Root's for 16, an agricultural heave from the side's most elegant player, do not give Stokes pause for thought.

"I think our approach is what we're known for, the way in which we play," he said.

"We want to stay very true to ourselves. I was happy with the way we went about that chase. That's exactly how we play cricket. It won't always work but a loss is a loss; you don't get any points losing by five and you don't get less for losing by 100."

Praise

England will travel onwards to Abu Dhabi for a break on Wednesday, before returning to India for the third Test in Rajkot on February 15.

India head coach Rahul Dravid has praised England's 'Bazball' approach, even if the word itself leaves him cold. Dravid was known as 'the Wall' during his playing days, a nod to his watertight technique, but he has been impressed by the way the tourists have utilised their attacking methods on turning pitches.

"I think they're playing very well. Whether you call it 'Bazball' or whatever you want to call it, it's not," he said.

"I know it's just a term, and I'm not sure how happy they are about it, but they are playing really good cricket. It's not like wild slogging, they are actually showing some very good skills."

"Some of the shots they are playing require a lot of ability. You can't just come here and execute those things by saying 'I want to play attackingly'. I think there's more to it than just attacking cricket."

"I have seen at times they know when to pull back and they know when to attack. They're playing slightly differently, no doubt about it. They know how to find that balance and we know we're up against a challenge that we're looking forward to."

Bumrah won a deserved player-of-the-match award for his match figures of nine for 91, including a game-defining spell of vicious reverse swing in the first innings.

The image of him sending two of Ollie Pope's stumps flying in opposite directions encapsulated his brilliance in a single frame.

"As a youngster that was the first delivery I learned in tennis-ball cricket," Bumrah recalled.

"I used to feel that that was the only way to take wickets. I look to solve the problem, every wicket is different and I have to use what I have in my armoury."

GOOD START: Ethan Roots

England will get back to their Roots

RUGBY UNION

ETHAN Roots believes his barnstorming England debut was given special meaning by his unorthodox route into professional rugby.

Roots was named man of the match for a powerful display at blindside flanker in Saturday's 27-24 Guinness Six Nations victory over Italy, continuing a breakthrough season for the Exeter Chief.

Yet as a teenager he fell out of love with the game when his lack of size prevented him from making an impact and he turned to jiu-jitsu.

Before long he had his only MMA fight – which ended in a draw – and was competing at jiu-jitsu, only to be expelled from his club for dating his coach's daughter.

Driven back to rugby, he benefited from a growth spurt and, upon being presented with several contract offers, opted for the Crusaders in 2020 only to then be limited to a single appearance.

It drove the Maori All Black to seek his fortune in the UK and, having impressed at Ospreys, he joined Exeter last year, with his form soon alerting Steve Borthwick that England might have found their successor to Courtney Lawes.

"Playing rugby professionally again and enjoying it – I'm so glad that I stuck at it," the 26-year-old said.

"I had a bit of a rough patch and came out of the end of it. I was lucky when I came out the end of that rough patch to still be in a professional set-up and I fell back into it, I fell back in love.

"The last six or seven months have been pretty hard to process. Everything has happened really quickly and everything has gone really well for me."

"A win in a tough place like the Stadio Olimpico and coming away with man of the match is pretty special. So I'm pretty happy."

Roots was greeted by his mum Cara after the game in an unexpected visit and hopes she will be present for Saturday's round-two fixture against Wales, when he will face some of his former Ospreys team-mates.

"My dad is back in Auckland but my mum flew out and surprised me – it was the first time I had seen her for quite a while," he said. "That was pretty special."

"She arrived the night before the game. I don't know how she planned it all. Her and my partner landed at the same time. It was a nice surprise."

"It is a long trip but she is going to see my brother when she is in London and hopefully catch another game."

"I know a lot of those boys in Wales and it would be great to have a hit-out against them. It is a big occasion and it would be my first Test at Twickenham, so I would be really excited about it."

By MIKE FRANCIS

LESSAY let favourite-backers down at Kempton last month but can recoup those losses when returning for the Unibet Supports Safe Gambling Novice Stakes.

Andrew Balding's charge looked all set to make it two from two when kicking on from the front just after entering the home straight but then showed a few signs of greenness.

Having jinked at the cut-away, the Churchill colt was asked to quicken up again between the final two furlongs and appeared to take control of proceedings.

Boost

However, he continued to wander about a bit and that left him vulnerable to the late surge of Newsreader when the petrol tank emptied in the closing stages.

Lessay is now 5lb better off with that rival, who had been over eight lengths back in seventh when Balding's Churchill colt impressed on his successful racecourse debut, again over this course and distance.

That form received a boost when runner-up Rascal Recknell landed the odds at Lingfield recently and Lessay looks worth another chance, especially after another month to mature and with Oisín Murphy back on board. Symbol Of Light appears ready to strike for the first time since joining Julie Camacho in the Unibet Zero% Mission Handicap.

The five-year-old was once a promising youngster for Charlie Appleby, completing a 518-day lay-off with an encouraging fourth placed effort at Newcastle in the summer.

After being bought for 60,000 guineas in October 2022, he spent time on the sidelines but returned from a 518-day lay-off with an encouraging fourth placed effort at Newcastle in the summer.

There have been more niggling training setbacks since, but placed efforts here in November and at Newcastle on New Year's Day suggest all is well at last.

The Gosforth Park second to Dear My Friend looks particularly strong form after the winner followed up in fine style at Lingfield in the Listed-class Tandridge Stakes on Sunday.

Over the jumps at Ludlow, Palio is given another chance in the Racing To School Juvenile Hurdle after being given time to recover from being pulled up in heavy ground at Aintree last time.

Alan King's gelding had previously chased home Burdett Road at Huntingdon on his encouraging National Hunt debut and also had some decent Flat form.

Bontay was all the rage for a valuable mares' handicap at Cheltenham in mid-December and was still travelling well when parting company with Paddy Brennan two out.

Fergal O'Brien clearly thinks a lot of the seven-year-old, who registered six wins and three seconds in her first nine races, so she is worth sticking with in the Watch On RacingTV Mares' Handicap Hurdle.

All eyes will be on royal runner Reach For The Moon when he goes over obstacles for the first time in the Betting.Bet New Betting Sites Maiden Hurdle at Sedgfield.

The five-year-old was once rated a potential Derby contender when claiming a Group Three juvenile success for John and Thady Gosden and holds a Supreme entry at the Cheltenham Festival.

Townhill relished a step up to three miles when scoring gamely at Doncaster and another three furlongs in the Betting.Bet Free Members Club Handicap Hurdle will be no problem.

Teen star Littler in a League of his own

LUKE DETERMINED TO SHOW HIS WORTH AT SPORT'S HIGHEST LEVEL

BIG TIME:
Luke Littler

LUKE Littler is ready to "kick on" in the Premier League after taking the darts world by storm.

The teenage sensation has enjoyed a whirlwind few weeks since his remarkable, headline-grabbing run to the final of the World Championship last month.

Littler followed up his Alexandra Palace heroics by winning the Bahrain Masters and reaching the final of the Dutch Masters.

The Warrington-based youngster now wants to make his mark in the Premier League, having reached the semi-finals on his debut in Cardiff last week.

His next opportunity comes in Berlin on Thursday. "I am just happy with how I have been playing," Littler, who also turned 17 last month, said.

"The Worlds was a big step up but I have proved I can play with the best and that is why I have got my shot in the Premier League.

"It was good to win on my debut and obviously be the youngest person to hit a nine-darter as well. But overall it was just practice for the Premier League, as was Holland. Now we are kicking on with the Premier League. I know I have got the ability to beat the best."

Littler has so far taken his sudden fame in his stride.

The player nicknamed 'The Nuke' was a relative unknown in December but his performances at such a young age have earned him recognition beyond darts.

Interest

He said: "It's just been crazy but I've just been living how I have been doing – chilling when I have time off but when I'm at my darts events, being fully focused."

"That's what I have always done. I have always been myself and keep myself to myself."

Littler admits he has mixed feelings about all the attention, particularly the media interest in his life on and off the oche.

Asked if he has enjoyed being interviewed so often, he said: "I have and I haven't. It does get very boring!"

Meanwhile, New Masters

champion Stephen Bunting has opened up on his battles with mental health and revealed how a hypnotist has helped turn his career around.

The 38-year-old won his first televised PDC major when he outclassed Michael van Gerwen in the final in Milton Keynes just a few years after nearly walking away from the game.

Bunting, who is a former BDO world champion, made the switch to the PDC circuit a decade ago and threatened to make waves before he hit a dip that left him depressed.

The Liverpoolian said he felt like a laughing stock and turned to a hypnotist and sports psychologist to get over his demons.

"I was ready for walking away," he said. "It was awful, I was walking into events and I felt like everyone was laughing at me."

"I felt like no matter what I was doing everything was going wrong. I was taking it out on my family and locking myself away."

"I was depressed, it was an awful place to be. Thankfully the psychologist and hypnotist have helped."

Happy

"I was against it at first but I thought I needed to do something and that was probably the last step that I could take and I went."

"He taught me how to think not just about darts, there's other things than darts, family, home life."

"I know they say in Peter Pan you think about happy stuff and you can fly but it is the same sort of logic in darts. If you turn up and are feeling happy and good then you can win anything."

"The hypnotist helped me with my sleep. That's the biggest thing for me, a one-hour session with a hypnotist is a four-hour REM state so it helps you to focus, it helps you look at all the positives and stop looking at negatives."

"Your mind is 95 per cent negative so sometimes every one of us will be in the negative side of the brain without even knowing it."

"I don't think there are many players who have dipped into that side so to have that extra one or two per cent that helps. As you can see I am a champion now, so I'm just happy."

Bunting, who channelled his inner Lionel Messi by sleeping alongside his trophy on Sunday night, has been waiting a long time to get his hands on some silverware.

But he said he would consider giving it back if it meant Jurgen Klopp stayed at his beloved Liverpool.

"I might give my trophy," he quipped.

"I actually felt like I lost a family member. I was away in Ireland when I heard the news and I was absolutely devastated. I don't think there is a manager in the world that could take his place."

Pochettino calls for more time and unity as his Chelsea troubles roll on MAURICIO Pochettino called for support from fans after Chelsea were booed off at the end of Sunday's 4-2 defeat to Wolves.

The Argentinian, who apologised for the manner in which his team capitulated after taking the lead in the first half at Stamford Bridge, said his young side need backing if they are to turn around what until now has been another woeful Premier League season.

The Blues are 11th after losing to Gary O'Neil's side, with 10 defeats from their 23 league games.

Supporters responded by singing the name of former owner Roman Abramovich, and jeered Pochettino and his team off the field at half-time and again at the final whistle.

Matheus Cunha's hat-trick had earned Wolves their first win at Chelsea since 1979 and was well deserved, with the visitors the more inventive and clinical in possession while Pochettino's side suffered from a familiar lack of creativity.

Yet it was a perceived absence of fight that most angered supporters.

"We apologise to the fans," said Pochettino. "The perception is one thing, another is the reality. The perception is Chelsea should be in a different position, but for different circumstances we are not there. Maybe because we are not good enough. But what can we do?"

"The most important thing now is to feel the responsibility. We need to accept that is the organisation and of course the players that we have."

"To understand the fans is really important. We want to apologise and feel sorry.

"We are disappointed like them, but until the end we need to fight all together."

"If we want good results in the future, we need to stay together. During 90 minutes, we need to try to work together."

"With the capacity, the fans will be right to criticise and be angry if the performance is not good. But it's important (to remember) the players are young. They need support."

Recover

Much of the fury was directed at Pochettino personally, the first clear sign of his tenure that backing for the manager is under strain.

"During the moment, it's not nice," he said. "But I think we have to move on. You need to convince the players, push them to never give up and be brave and to recover. It's the leader that needs to be there, to have the composure to push them."

"We can talk, but we are in the dugout. The players need to feel the confidence, to feel fresh to compete again."

"They feel the pressure and they need the help from the fans during 90 minutes. It's not to demand nothing. When the stress arrives, sometimes it's not easy. We need to be behind them."

The Wolves defeat was Pochettino's 31st game in charge, the same number Graham Potter was given before he was sacked last season, and here Midweek Sport looks at the Argentinian's record with the club.

SLOW PROGRESS

Potter was sacked after just over six months in charge and a record reading won 12, drew eight, lost 11 in all competitions. Pochettino is two wins better off, showing at least some progress, but with the same number of losses.

With the £1billion of transfer expenditure since the club were taken over by Todd Boehly's Clearlake consortium, Chelsea could reasonably have expected to turn the ship around somewhat quicker – though Pochettino does at least have an upcoming Carabao Cup final to point to as the club chase a first trophy since 2021.

The comparison to their previous 31 games immediately before his appointment is more favourable to Pochettino, owing to a feeble finish to last season under the caretaker management of Frank Lampard.

Lampard's spell began with another defeat to Wolves as he won only one and lost eight of 11 games. Throw in a draw with Liverpool under caretaker Bruno Saltor and the final 19 games of Potter's reign – won five, drew five, lost nine – and Chelsea's record in that stretch consists of just six wins, eight draws and 17 defeats.

Pochettino has also improved their goalscoring record, with 54 goals in his time in charge for an average of 1.74 per game. Potter's teams scored just 33, barely a goal a game. At the other end of the pitch, though, things have been more problematic...

FEEL THE FOURS

The Wolves game followed immediately on from a 4-1 defeat by Liverpool last Wednesday.

That is the second time under Pochettino that they have conceded four in back-to-back games, having done so in November against Manchester

City – albeit in a 4-4 draw – and Newcastle.

That means they have suffered twice in the last 17 games, the most recent example coming in the old First Division in December 1989 when they lost 5-2 to Wimbledon, 4-2 to QPR and 5-2 to Liverpool in successive games.

The last week's double setback has left Pochettino's defence with a record of 43 goals conceded in 31 games, 1.39 per game, compared to exactly a goal a game under Potter.

Matheus Cunha also became only the fourth visiting player to score a Premier League hat-trick at Stamford Bridge, following former Arsenal forwards Nwankwo Kanu in 1999 and Robin van Persie in 2011 and Man City's Sergio Agüero in 2016.

Forest boss Nuno fears Cup shock

NUNO Espírito Santo refused to look beyond Nottingham Forest's FA Cup fourth-round replay against Bristol City with a bumper home tie against Manchester United awaiting the winners.

Forest were held 0-0 at Ashton Gate and Nuno is taking nothing for granted in a competition he holds in high regard.

When asked about the fans' excitement at the prospect of facing United, Nuno said: "Now we are focused on Bristol and it means a lot to us."

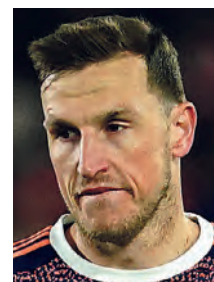

"Since the beginning I always considered the FA Cup a fantastic chance to fight for a trophy. This is what is in our minds."

"It's the second leg of a competition we want to go through and we're going to face a difficult team, who in the first leg were tough. But we're going to try and solve it."

Forest's progress has been slow in nine games under Nuno, who replaced Steve Cooper in December, due to a spate of injuries and players on duty at the Africa Cup of Nations.

Ryan Yates and Nicolas Dominguez will both miss the City replay through suspension, Chris Wood (hamstring) and Divock Origi (unspecified) remain sidelined and Callum Hudson-Odoi is a doubt.

Ola Aina, Willy Boly and Ibrahim Sangaré are all still on Africa Cup of Nations duty, although Senegal pair Moussa Niakhate and Cheikhou Kouyate are back with the squad.

Forest sit two points above the relegation zone, after taking seven points from Nuno's seven league games in charge.

But the Portuguese added: "There's a lot of positives. We are scoring goals, we are playing good spells of football."

"The idea is to sustain the good moments throughout the games, but at the same time there are some negatives also that we have to address."

"We are starting the games slowly. In the last game (1-1 at Bournemouth on Sunday) the first few minutes were not good, so we have to have strong and fast starts to the game."

"There are some issues at set-pieces as well. It's very far from what we want because perfection is very difficult to achieve."

"So if you want to reach those high standards we need time."

LIS A BIG UNITED MISS

MANCHESTER United defender Lisandro Martinez is facing at least eight weeks out with ligament damage in his right knee.

The Argentina defender was forced off in United's 3-0 win over West Ham at Old Trafford on Sunday, just his fourth appearance following four months out following a foot issue.

Martinez was surrounded by team-mates in the second half after going down clutching his knee, having been landed on awkwardly by West Ham full-back Vladimir Coufal.

After the match Erik ten Hag admitted the injury "doesn't look good" and described it as a "personal disaster" for Martinez given how much time the 26-year-old had already missed this season.

NEIL'S GAME FOR A LAUGH

NEW Aberdeen manager Neil Warnock vowed to have a "little bit of fun" and targeted cup glory after achieving a life's ambition of working in Scotland.

The 75-year-old revealed he had rejected more lucrative offers but seized the opportunity to move to the Premiership until the end of the season.

"It's been a long time," he said. "I have always wanted to manage up here. I've got a place at Dunoon and my club's Greenock Morton. I've got bricks there with the family name on."

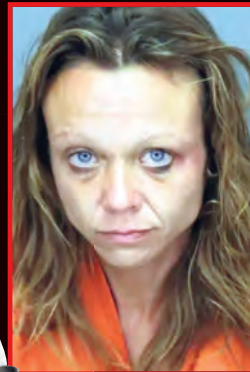

"Let's have a little bit of fun between now and the end of the season. I like to put smiles on faces."

"I applied for the job once many years ago and I never even got a reply. I felt let down at the time and I used that a little bit to motivate myself - I'll show them what they're missing. I managed to get promotion the following year."

Chelsea eye shock Jose return

CHELSEA are considering a shock swoop to bring Jose Mourinho back to Stamford Bridge.

Manager Mauricio Pochettino is under increasing pressure after the Blues' poor Premier League form rolls on.

The home hammering by Wolves last weekend has only turned up the heat even more on Poch. And reports in Europe suggest owner Todd Boehly is considering a staggering return to west London for the Special One.

By JOHN ANTHONY

Mourinho is currently between jobs after parting company with AS Roma. He has been on a tour of Europe's top clubs watching matches and making it clear that he won't necessarily be heading to take the Saudi millions. Bringing him back to the Bridge would be a highly controversial move but he is still loved by the home faithful.

He won them three Premier League titles and smashed the dominance of Manchester United and Arsenal in his two spells as Chelsea manager.

He would jump at the chance to return to his old stamping ground.
